PRICE FIVE CENTS

THREE OF TRAIN CREW HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Three members of a five-man Pennsylvania Railroad crew, blamed last month by a coroner's jury in the grade crossing death of Larry White, 17, Littlestown, January 24, entered a plea of not guilty at their arraignment before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder Friday afternoon, and each posted $1,000 bail to appear in May court on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

The charge against the trio, William Franklin Rider, 627 Wayne Ave., York, the engineer; George P. Klinedinst, 332 Frederick Court, York, the fireman; and Charles L. Keckler, 2024 Winding Rd., York, the conductor, was filed by Trooper Nicholas Spallone of the Gettysburg substation of the state police.

Attys. Edward B. Bulliet and Robert Brown of York were representing the three-man train crew, who did not testify at the hearing. Trooper Spallone described the weather conditions on the night of the White accident as being dark and visibility poor, "but the road surface was dry." Spallone said he arrived at the scene at 8:10 p.m. and found the car was smashed into the side of the diesel locomotive at the air reservoir. The trooper found the White vehicle three quarters over on the left side of the center line, going toward Hanover and very light skid marks from the right rear tire extending toward Littlestown about 40 feet.

Crew Questioned
Spallone said he first talked to the engineer, Rider, at the scene and Rider told the trooper that conductor Klinedinst had control of the train and he (Rider) had been flagging the intersection at the time of the collision. Spallone said he queried Rider about the rules of entering a highway and said: "Rider told me that you must stop the train before entering and that any member of the crew may flag traffic."

When Klinedinst, the fireman, was questioned with Rider, the trooper said, Klinedinst claimed Rider was in control of the train, and Rider said Klinedinst was in control. I talked to Conductor Keckler who told me that he was in the caboose, saw the White car approach at a high rate of speed, and Rider was flagging traffic."

MAY REVIVE BATTLEFIELD ASSOCIATION

The possibility of re-establishing the "Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Association" which founded the battlefield here was discussed Friday night at a meeting of the local committee seeking to determine sentiment for saving the old dormitory at the seminary. The meeting was held in the historical society room at the courthouse.

The committee headed by Dr. Frederick Tilberg and including representatives of the Travel Council, historical society, guides' association and Civil War Round Table Friday night discussed a number of approaches toward determining support for saving the old dormitory. Letters from a number of persons contacted, stating their willingness to help if called upon, were read and plans were made for contacting a number of other persons and organizations.

Early Interest Shown
According to arrangements made with seminary officials, the committee is to determine the amount of public support that could be expected if a fund raising project is carried out to provide money for restoration of the old building. The seminary board at its May meeting will determine from the findings of the committee whether there appears to be sufficient public interest to warrant changing the board's prior decision to dismantle the old structure.

The interest shown so far was sufficient to lead the committee Friday night to discuss the possibility of reestablishing the old Battlefield association not only to raise funds for the seminary building, but to raise funds and promote preservation of other buildings and possibly purchase land needed for the battlefield.

A final decision on whether to establish the association under the original name of the organization which founded the battlefield here will be taken at a meeting next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the historical society rooms to which representatives of other local groups will be invited to consider the possibility of forming the new association.

1958 License Tag Is Legal Today; Take Care Of It

HARRISBURG (AP) — The new 1958 Pennsylvania automobile license plate became legal today.

Take care of it. It is intended to last for five years. Next year, and in subsequent years until 1963, you will be issued a tab or sticker to show that you're up to date in paying the $10 annual registration fee.

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles said more than 1½ million of the new plates already have been issued—about 400,000 more than issued at this time last year.

Close to 4 million plates are expected to be issued by March 31—the final date for using the old 1957 license tags. The Bureau plans to stay open Saturdays for the remainder of the month to handle the last-minute rush.

FOREIGN, U. S. CARS IN EPLEY 'EASTER SHOW'

Foreign makes vie in beauty and performance with American designs in the Easter Auto Show at C. W. Epley garage, Chambersburg St., today. The show will continue through April 5 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. each day. More than 35 models and nine different makes are included in the display.

The American cars are Studebakers and Packards. The imported autos are Mercedes-Benz, Austin Healey, Triumph, MG, Austin, Morris Minor and Jaguar makes.

Epley said today his Foreign Car Center presents the largest display of foreign cars in southeastern Pennsylvania.

The show includes not only the typical sports models, the roadsters, which are among the famed imported vehicles, but sedans, convertibles, coupes and estate wagons. Similar models are shown in the Packard and Studebaker lines.

New Foreign Cars

The MGAs are the first of a new line of MG cars put out by Morris Motors Ltd. of England. The firm says that it "combines the cumulative knowledge and experience gained by MG in building a long line of high performance sports (Continued On Page 3)

Will Lecture On Cosmic Ray Effects

Dr. George T. Reynolds, associate professor of physics at Princeton University and a well known research director in the field of cosmic rays, will present a lecture in the Gettysburg College series Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Brua Chapel on the campus.

His subject will be "Cosmic Rays, Their Origin And Atmospheric Effects." The public is invited to attend the lecture.

Dr. Reynolds will be on the campus Monday and Tuesday as a visiting lecturer under the auspices of the American Institute of Physics and the American Association of Physics Teachers.

CHURCH HONORS LOCAL WOMEN

Two members of the Gettysburg Baptist Church were elected to posts by the Harrisburg Association of Baptist Women's Missionary Societies at First Baptist Church, Harrisburg.

They are Mrs. Wayne Van Dyke, Biglerville R. 1, named house party chairman, and Mrs. Ellwood Hoffman, of Biglerville R. 1, selected as vice president of Christian social relations.

Two other members of the Gettysburg unit currently are serving two year terms in elective positions. They are Mrs. Herbert Brownlee, chairman of Christian training, and Mrs. William Coleman, love gift chairman.

Gettysburg was selected as the site for the September 11, 1958, meeting of the Harrisburg Association. York was selected as the location for the March, 1959, meeting of the group.

Among members of the Gettysburg unit who attended the sessions Thursday at Harrisburg were Mrs. Howard Blanchard, Mrs. Mabel Bechley, Mrs. Marvin Lowe, Mrs. Ellwood Hoffman, Mrs. Ellis Mallow, Mrs. Leland Doolittle, Mrs. Wayne Van Dyke, Mrs. H. M. Brownlee, Mrs. William Coleman, Mrs. Fred Neal, Mrs. Glenn Hess, Mrs. Archie Strickland, Mrs. Naomi Helms, and Mrs. Daisy Sprigg. Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Little Funeral Home in Littlestown with the Rev. W. C. Kars, his pastor, officiating. Interment in Mt. Carmel Cemetery, Littlestown. Friends may call at the funeral home Monday evening.

QUIGLEY NAMED TO STATE POST

Former Congressman James M. Quigley, Camp Hill attorney, has been named a deputy attorney general for the Commonwealth.

The appointment was confirmed by Attorney General Thomas D. McBride, who said "that he is appointed and that we're delighted to have him I confirm thoroughly."

Quigley, reached in Arlington, Va., said he had not yet been advised of his appointment to the $15,260-a-year post but that he knew he was being considered for it. He added that he will accept it but that it will in no way alter his political plans.

Quigley is the only Democratic aspirant for the 19th congressional district seat he held in the 84th Congress. He said he is "in the race to stay" despite his new state job.

Divorce Granted By Court Today

Boy Puts Mother's Body Under Bed

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — Police said a high school freshman told them "he had a hard time sleeping some nights" after killing his mother and stuffing her body under his bed.

Dean Smith, 15, admitted the slaying in a written statement, according to Troopers H. E. Robinson and Jack Scaggs.

The officers said the boy confessed to striking his mother, Mrs. Grace Wims, 39, with a hatchet when they were alone in the family's trailer home last Saturday.

The crime was discovered yesterday when a neighbor found the body.

"I don't know why I did it," police quoted Dean. "Something just came over me."

TKE AND DELTA GAMMA CAPTURE 'SING' PRIZES

Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, with its rendition of "Wait for the Wagon," directed by Larry Cameron, won the Gettysburg College Interfraternity Council Sing Friday evening before 1,600 students, alumni and guests in the Eddie Plank Memorial Gymnasium.

Delta Gamma sorority placed first in the Woman's Pan-Hellenic Council Sing with its presentation of "Blow, Gabriel, Blow," directed by Lynne Bonney. Chi Omega won honorable mention with "Skating," directed by Dorothy Lloyd.

Second place in the interfraternity section was won by Lambda Chi Alpha with "Give Me You Tired, Your Poor," directed by Paul Rodenhauer, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon sang "Green Sleeves," directed by Mike Galdino, to capture honorable mention.

The sing was a highlight of the Interfraternity Get-Together and marked the first time in the 23-year history of the Interfraternity Weekend that skits were not presented and that coeds were "legally" present.

Col. John M. MacGregor, past chairman, National Interfraternity Conference, and past president, Alpha Tau Omega, brought greetings from the NIC. Dean John W. Shainline, substituting for President Willard S. Paul who was confined to his home with illness, welcomed the group.

HOLD WOMAN ON CHECK CHARGES

A 33-year-old York woman, who state police said passed an "unbelievable number" of bad checks in York and surrounding counties, has been apprehended and committed to the county prison.

Cpl. Alfred J. Corkran said three separate charges of forgery have already been lodged against Margaret Mae Robinson, 523 N. George St., York, before York magistrates.

Corkran said the woman used many aliases in forging checks on the Windsor branch of the Drovers and Mechanics National Bank; Dover branch of the York National Bank and Trust Company; Glen Rock State Bank, and S. Queen St. branch of the First National Bank and Trust Company, Red Lion.

Other checks are known to have been passed in Hanover, Columbia, Gettysburg and sections of York County, Corkran said.

Gettysburg borough police said today they have not had any reports of checks passed here by the woman although the York reports state she cashed some of them here.

Wild Northeast Storm Slaps New England; 20-Inch Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A wild northeast storm pelted New England with additional heavy snows today, tangling power lines, snarling traffic and generally belying the fact that spring was less than a week away, by the calendar.

Heavy, wet snow measuring up to 22 inches covered Tannersville in the Catskill Mountains of New York. 17½ inches blanketed sections of Connecticut and more than 13 inches was on the ground in northwestern New Jersey. The storm was given added ferocity with winds which gusted up to 70 m.p.h. in sections of New England Friday and early today. Temperatures were around the freezing level.

18 Pheasant Pens Crushed By Snow

Snow caused several thousand dollars damage Friday at the Harris and Stipe Pheasant Farm, Larry Stipe said Friday afternoon.

The heavy snow gathered on the wire netting over the top of pens and crushed 18 of the 25 pens to the ground. Posts holding the wire pulled out of the ground, bringing with them the concrete in which they were imbedded.

Approximately 1,200 pheasants were removed from under the tangle of wire, posts and snow. Stipe said the birds were apparently unharmed.

D. McCauslin Named Acting Postmaster

Dewey F. McCauslin, proprietor of McCauslin Auto Sales, York St., has been appointed acting postmaster of Gettysburg, according to an announcement today by Congressman S. Walter Stauffer, of the Adams, York, Cumberland and Lancaster districts. His appointment is effective next Friday.

Stauffer said this morning that a notice of the Civil Service examination to fill the office is expected to be posted some time next week. "It will be about six months before a permanent postmaster will be selected," Stauffer said, "because it takes that long to complete the examination and rate the candidates."

Stauffer said McCauslin was endorsed by William I. Shields, chairman of the Adams County Republican Committee.

Many Applicants

"I was besieged with applicants," the congressman said. "Most of them are veterans. McCauslin is not. To select a veteran would have been a difficult task, hence the endorsement of Shields prevailed."

"There are no obligations to McCauslin other than the temporary appointment. He will, if he wishes, take the examination along with all the other applicants," Stauffer added.

The applicants' examination papers will be graded by the Civil Service Commission. Veterans are given a ten point advantage.

The postmaster's salary is $5,800 a year.

Driver Hits Snow Plow With Auto; Pays Fine

Lawrence S. Burris, 24, Sherwood, Md., paid a $10 fine and $5 costs on a charge of driving too fast for conditions after his car struck a state highway department snow plow 14.3 miles west of here Friday morning.

State police placed the charge before Justice of the Peace Perr Robert, Seven Stars. The officers said Burris was driving west when he came upon a westbound snowplow operated by James C. Clingan, 38, McSherrystown. Burris attempted to pass the truck and his car struck the rear of the vehicle, causing $300 damage to Burris' 1956 car, none to the truck and plow.

DELONE JUNIOR WINS IN ADAMS POSTER CONTEST

Miss Anita Eline, 420 Ridge Ave., McSherrystown, an 11th grade student at Delone Catholic High School, was announced today by the Adams County Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped as the winner in this year's annual poster contest.

Miss Eline's poster, showing a crippled man at work and bearing the wording, "Ability Counts, Hire the Handicapped," has been entered in the statewide poster contest sponsored by the Governor's Committee for Employment of the Handicapped and the Pennsylvania Loyal Order of Moose.

FIRST PLACE POSTER

sored by the Governor's Committee for Employment of the Handicapped and the Pennsylvania Loyal Order of Moose.

Miss Eline will receive a $9 prize for winning the Adams County event.

Biglerville Girl Second

The second place winner, Joan Carole Herman, Aspers R. 1, will receive a $6 award. Miss Herman, a tenth grade student at Biglerville High School, is taught by Helen S. Hawbecker.

Miss Eline, the first place winner and Paul Hoffman, 43 Breckenridge St., a tenth grade student at Delone, who was awarded the third prize of $3, are taught by Sister M. Agnes.

The prizes awarded in the poster contest and the essay contest conducted by the Adams County Committee for Employment of the Handicapped are provided by the Gettysburg Moose and Elks, the Catholic War Veterans of Bonneauville, the Littlestown Eagles and Veterans of Foreign Wars and the McSherrystown Knights of Columbus and Moose. The winners in the essay contest were announced about a month ago.

IKE'S PACKAGE SELLS FOR $20

A parcel post package sent by President Dwight D. Eisenhower brought $20 Friday night in an auction and panel show held by the Quill and Scroll, Gettysburg High School journalistic society, and the Maroon and White, high school publication, to raise funds for the school newspaper. The program was held in the high school auditorium.

Miss N. Louise Ramer, advisor for the Maroon and White, said the show produced approximately $250 profit, "or enough to keep the Maroon and White from going in the red this year." The paper had been facing a $225 deficit and the sale and show were held to make up the deficit.

The top price in the auction of 160 articles was brought by the presidential gift which consisted of a steel engraving of the White House signed and dated by President Eisenhower.

Frank Skidmore served as master of ceremonies for the program, Sandy Holoka and Joan Stoner, Jacqueline Smith and Tom Crist presented "commercials" during the panel show. Charles Vial and Nickie Kargas were clerks. A group of girls under chairmanship of Neva Jane Hartman carried the packages to the purchasers after they were auctioned. The auctioneers were John C. Stahle, Kenneth G. Reinhardt Jr., John Y. Crow and Dr. Scott Morehead.

The panel members were J. M. Sheads, Miss Jean McAnally, David Woods and Mrs. Sue White. The moderator was Edwin Longenecker. The persons to be identified were High School Principal Guile Lefever, Mrs. Ruth Scott Wisler, Richard Folkenroth, Attorney John A. MacPhail, Mrs. Charles Smith, G. Henry Roth and Mary Lou Kranias.

IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Mrs. Raymond Pepple, Orttanna, was called to Hagerstown this morning by the serious illness of her father, Samuel Weaver, 78, who is a patient in a hospital there.

Fire of as yet undetermined origin caused several thousand dollars damage Friday afternoon to two homes built by Daniel L. Yingling in the new development along the Taneytown Rd. three miles south of here. The two fires broke out at approximately the same time at the same place in each home.

The homes were occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Clair H. Shindledecker and Sgt. and Mrs. William Dennington. The houses are about 50 feet apart.

In each of the homes the damage was identical, the area immediately above the furnace. In each home a small central hallway provides access to the living room, two bedrooms and the cellar. The furnace in each house is directly under the hallway. In each instance the fire burned out a large portion of the flooring of the hallway and some joists. In both instances the basement stairway collapsed after the flooring burned through. Almost the same amount of flooring burned away in each house.

Were Reported Inspected
The furnaces and wiring are said to have been inspected last fall when the buildings were completed. Gettysburg Fire Chief Donald Staub said today he has notified County Fire Marshal John Murren and Jack Arms of the state fire marshal's office to ascertain the origin of the blaze.

Yingling said he had about $3,500 insurance on each building. Sgt. Den

FISH BALLS A FJORDE, BABY SNAKES, WHALE

By LAMAR FALKNER
NEW YORK (AP)—With explorers who know food best, it's octopus Sasebo two to one.

Twenty minutes after more than 60 explorers from all over the world gathered last night at the Hotel Baltimore, there was hardly an octopus left.

But there were still a few cockles, Britanica, mashed mussels, jellied cherry blossoms, lily bulbs Sukoshi, rooster combs au vin, and lava worms glaze.

There were plenty of ants Takusan. For some reason, the ants Takusan didn't move very fast. "They kept me awake at night," explained one explorer as he passed over the ants.

All In Your Mind
"It's all in your mind," mumbled his companion, who, being an ants Takusan man from 'way back, piled several on his plate. As he nibbled on the delicacy, he sounded as if he were eating a light bulb.

All these goodies — plus rattle-snake file, fish balls a fjorde, baby snakes blanche, muskrat mignon, and pickled whale skin — were only the hors d'oeuvres as the world wanderers gathered for the 54th Annual Explorers' Club Dinner.

For the main course, they settled down to a choice of whale steak or Indian rice-stuffed pheasant. The whale steak was delicious, tasting like a cross between calves' liver and beef steak all ground into one blubbery hunk.

Actress Silent On Kidnaping Story

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald is home — with "no comment" to questions about her new kidnaping story.

Smiling and mink-clad, the actress was met by two attorneys and a crowd of newsmen as she stepped off an airliner last night. In Cincinnati on a night-club tour, she recently asserted that her husband, Harry Karl, engineered her kidnaping 14 months ago. Karl, a millionaire shoe manufacturer-retailer, termed this ridiculous.

Marie claimed two men kidnaped her from her home, held her captive 24 hours and released her on the desert. The county grand jury investigated but voted no indictments.

Dr. George T. Reynolds, Princeton University, will be the guest of Prof. and Mrs. Howard C. C. Long, Highland Ave., Monday and Tuesday. Prof. Reynolds, who is an associate professor of physics at Princeton, will serve as visiting lecturer at Gettysburg College.

The Harrisburg Road Homemakers Group will meet Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. B. Martin, R. 4. The topic will be "Making Candy."

The Mothers' Class of St. James Lutheran Church School held its annual covered-dish supper Friday evening in the dining room of the church with 85 members and guests present. Group singing was conducted with Mrs. Paul L. Reaser at the piano. A brief business meeting was held with the president, Mrs. Francis Weikert, presiding. Donations of $5 each were voted to the Seminary Auxiliary, Red Cross, Heart Fund, and the AME Zion Church. Plans were made to hold a banquet, April 14, for the Laymen's Group of the church. The members will attend services Holy Thursday as a group, meeting in the narthex of the church. Charles Sterner showed slides, taken on a recent trip to Denver, Colo. Mrs. Henry Krick, program chairman, introduced the following, who taught as relief teachers during the year: Dr. Norman S. Wolf, Miss Vestal Stallsmith, Atty. Eugene Hartman, Walter Smith, Charles Woodward, Luther Smith, John Naugle and Mrs. Henry Bream. Other guests present were Mrs. Paul L. Reaser and daughter and the Rev. and Mrs. John S. Bishop and daughter. The next meeting will be held April 15 at the home of Mrs. Glenn Harner, E. Lincoln Ave., with Mrs. Paul G. Pensinger as co-hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Pfeffer, 219 Baltimore St., are vacationing in Bermuda.

The Auxiliary of the Gettysburg Fire Department will hold an Easter market Saturday, April 5, starting at 8 a.m., at the engine house. Baked goods, decorated eggs, and novelties will be available. Members are asked to bring donations to the engine house or notify Mrs. Robert Hartman, Gettys St.

Miss Shirley Ann Sanders, daughter of Mrs. Cletus Sanders, R. 1, and C. Robert Ziegler, son of Mrs. C. T. Ziegler, Springs Ave., will be married at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in St. James Lutheran Church. Mr. Ziegler is photographer-reporter for The Gettysburg Times.

Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Wickerham, E. Broadway, and Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Donley, Harrisburg Rd., are spending some time in Bermuda.

TRANQUILIZERS SERVED ANIMALS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Now come tranquilizing drugs for animals.

Two veterinarians, W. E. Snyder and S. C. Wasman, say the soothing pills result in happier cattle, more eggs and dogs that smile at mailmen.

Cattle who normally fret away valuable pounds while being shipped to market stay fat and happy with the drug, the veterinarians said at a symposium. Nervous chickens calm down and lay eggs with cheerful regularity.

Wasman, of Miami Beach, Fla., and Snyder, of Haddonfield, N.J., also reported that deer, tranquilized by being shot with darts, can be herded to new ranges without getting exhausted. Aggressive dogs can be made to keep their teeth out of the mailman, the doctors said, with similar injections.

HARRISBURG (AP)—A former Olmsted Air Force Base civilian inspector was free on probation today on an embezzlement charge to which he pleaded guilty in Federal District Court here.

Engagement

MISS MILLER

Mr. and Mrs. Hilton C. Miller of 431 Dare Ave., Bridgeton, N. J., announce the engagement of their daughter, Kay Francis, to James L. Hollinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Hollinger, of Littlestown.

Miss Miller graduated from Bridgeton High School with the class of 1954. Both young people are members of the graduating class at Dickinson College, Carlisle. The bride-to-be is a member of Phi Mu sorority and is active in campus literary organizations, and is practicing teaching in Carlisle Junior High School in the English department. Mr. Hollinger is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and is attending the Dickinson School of Law. A summer wedding is planned.

DEADLINE NEAR FOR PETITIONS; AWAIT SLATES

HARRISBURG (P)—The slates that Harold E. Stassen and Roy E. Furnham will put up against their party organizations' choices remained a matter of speculation today as the deadline for filing nominating petitions for the May 20 primary election drew closer.

Monday is the last day to register the petitions with the State Elections Bureau.

The bureau remained open today to give potential candidates an extra day to file. Among those expected to bring in their petitions were Arthur T. McGonigle of Reading, the Republican organization choice for governor, and U.S. Rep. Hugh Scott, his running mate for the U.S. Senate.

Only Two Have Filed

Until today, Stassen and a political unknown, Harold J. Vaughan, an Aliquippa contractor, were the only ones to file. Vaughan filed earlier in the week as a Republican gubernatorial candidate and Stassen filed his gubernatorial petition late yesterday. No Democrats have filed as yet for state-wide office.

Stassen postponed an announcement on the rest of his slate until Monday.

State Sen. Albert R. Pechan of Armstrong County already has said he will run on the Stassen ticket as candidate for secretary of internal affairs.

Frank G. Hilton of Reading, former national commander of the veterans of foreign wars, has been rumored as Stassen's choice for lieutenant governor.

And Weldon B. Heyburn of Delaware County, former state treasurer, and U.S. Rep. John P. Saylor, Johnstown, reportedly are under consideration for the U.S. Senate choice. Heyburn said yesterday he has authorized nominating petitions to be circulated in his behalf, but he declined to say whether he will run with Stassen.

The organization choices for lieutenant governor and internal affairs are Allegheny County commissioner John M. Walker and Cambria County GOP leader Andrew J. Gleason, respectively.

LEOPOLD FLIES TO PUERTO RICO

NEW YORK (P)—Nathan Leopold left today for Puerto Rico to take up a new life as a $10-a-month hospital laboratory technician.

The 53-year-old parolee, who served 33½ years in prison for his part in the 1924 murder of Bobby Franks, 14, spent 3½ hours at Idlewild Airport. At no time did he speak with reporters.

Leopold was paroled from an Illinois prison on Thursday. He suffers from diabetes and heart and kidney ailments.

His Eastern Air Lines flight to Puerto Rico was to leave at 1 a.m., but was delayed until 4:11 a.m. by a faulty motor generator.

Leopold waited in an airline lounge reserved for important persons. He had a sandwich and milk.

With him was Dr. W. Harold Row, executive director of the Church of the Brethren Service Commission, which operates a 30-bed hospital in Castaner, P.R., about 70 miles southwest of San Juan.

"I can't say anything," was Leopold's only remark to reporters. Row said Leopold telephoned Ralph Newman, a Chicago book dealer, and poet Carl Sandburg at his North Carolina home.

"HOW, WHEN, WHERE"

How can we find the peace we're seeking . . . in this world of sin and strife . . . is there a way to real contentment . . . and an abundant happy life . . . when is the time to strive the harder . . . to gain the joys we all desire . . . is there a moment we can gather . . . all of the good that we admire . . . where is the place of untold comfort . . . spot where our dreams will all come true . . . is there a place that's filled with laughter . . . covered with skies of azure blue . . . we can find peace by faithful praying . . . and we all know, now is the time . . . to gain the comfort we are seeking . . . and priceless joys that are sublime . . . as for the place, it's deep within us . . . we have the how and when and where . . . we can make life a thing of beauty . . . if we rely on godly care.

"One Great Hour of Sharing," the united appeal of American Protestantism for overseas relief, rehabilitation and inter-faith aid program, will be observed in the Lutheran Church on Sunday. The offering will be used for Lutheran World Action by the Lutheran World Foundation. The Protestant goal for 1958 is $10,400,000. The amount set by the Lutherans is $3,611,000. Elias Lutheran Church goal is $600.

Choir rehearsals will be held Tuesday evening at the Lutheran Church. The choir will meet at the parish house Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Emrich Honored

Edgar G. Emrich, Emmitsburg dairy farmer, was re-elected president of the Maryland Co-operative Milk Producers, Inc., at the annual organizational meeting of the Board of Directors held in Baltimore recently. This will be Emrich's third term.

Also returned to office was vice president Horace S. Brauning, of Pinksburg, and secretary-treasurer W. P. Sadler, who also serves as manager. Chester G. Ernst, of Clear Spring, was re-elected as the third member of the executive committee. The two others are Mr. Emrich and Mr. Brauning.

The organization's annual report issued to its 2,000 members recently showed that almost $22,000,000 worth of milk had been sold during 1957 with returns to its dairy farmers $1,222,082 more than in 1956.

FAVORS WORK OVER TAX CUTS

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said today he believes most Democrats in Congress prefer a sound public works program instead of tax cuts to combat the business slump.

Byrd, a leading economy advocate in Congress, made it clear in an interview that he would favor more spending to tax reductions if the economy does not turn upward.

"To some extent there will be wasteful spending in accelerating public works," he said. "But I am confident the majority of Democrats in Congress would rather follow that course than to reduce taxes now."

President Eisenhower, who has delayed any decision on taxes, asked Congress Friday for an emergency appropriation of 12½ million dollars to speed up river and harbor projects and $46,200,000 for hospital construction.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the request for the funds, to be spent in the year beginning July 1, was aimed at helping lift the level of employment. Congressional approval was regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Featured is the MGA Coupe, "combining all the performance and road holding ability of the open car with all the advantages of a saloon" (English for an enclosed car). Another featured MG style is the Magnette, a "one and a half litre saloon."

The Austin Healy six, produced by the Austin Motor Company Ltd. of England, includes two- and four-seat sports tourer.

Austin shows an A35 in two and four-door models and cites its long gas mileage. The manufacturer claims more than 50 miles per gallon at 30 miles per hour.

American Cars

The Triumph line of the Standard-Triumph Motor Co. of England displays a sports car, sedan and estate wagon styles and notes, "The Triumph power plant is a tribute to British craftsmanship . . . the design of this 40-horsepower engine is so simple that it practically never gets out of order. Even when it does, adjusting is so simple any average American teen-ager is mechanically competent enough to handle it."

Then there are the sleek Packards and Studebakers featuring such items as twin-traction, which permits the power to flow to the wheel with the best traction automatically in snow, ice, mud and sand. Studebakers are shown in the Scotsman, Hawk, Commander and President styles and Packards in the Hawk, Golden Hawk and other styles.

The showroom is attractively decorated with flowers, ferns, banners and streamers. It is brightly illuminated.

Plot To Blacken Cop's Name Fails

ST. LOUIS (P)—Three motorcycle-ists were sent to the city workhouse for plotting to blacken the reputation of a policeman who ticketed them for speeding.

Melvin R. Smith, 20, Frank H. Cline, 37, and Oscar E. Golden, 24, told authorities Patrolman Joseph Bell solicited $100 bribes with an offer to tear up the tickets he gave them Thursday.

Police Judge Robert G. Dowd, fining each a maximum $500 for making false reports, called it "as disgraceful a law violation as has come to my attention since I have been on the bench." The three went to the workhouse to work out the fines at $3 a day.

Police said the scheme blew up when Golden failed to pass a lie detector test and changed his story.

LITTLESTOWN—Mrs. Mary Leister was elected president of the Women's Auxiliary of the Mason and Dixon VFW post at a meeting Thursday evening at the post home. Others elected were: Senior vice president, Mrs. Hazel Harrison; junior v.p., Mrs. Mary Reigle; treasurer, Miss Helen Jacobs; secretary, Mrs. Mabel Rittase; conductress, Mrs. Helen Garner; guard, Mrs. Dolores Badders; trustee for three years, Mrs. Mildred Weaver; trustee for two years, Mrs. Ethel Bridging. Installation will take place on April 10 in charge of Mrs. Ruth Dooley, past president.

Plans were made to sell Easter flowers in the POS of A building, E. King St., on April 3, 4 and 5.

Donations were voted to the Cerebral Palsy Foundation, education of a Korean child and Easter seals. A district meeting will be held Sunday in Waynesboro. Members planning to attend will leave at 12:30 p.m. from the post home. Mrs. Mary Leister reported one new member enrolled, Mrs. Evelyn Shomper. The guess package was won by Mrs. Patricia Kuhns. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Leister, Mrs. Reigle and Mrs. Bridging.

The next meeting will be held April 10 and the hostesses will be Mrs. Florence Sheely, Mrs. Mildred Weaver and Mrs. Ruth Dooley.

Children's books purchased for the Littlestown Free Lending Library include: "The Little Duke," Charlotte Yonge; "Robin Hood," Howard Pyle; "Big Enough," Will James; "Amazing Scientific Facts," and "Satellite."

Mrs. Donald G. Garner, Mrs. John Hilbert and Mrs. Curvin Hollinger will serve as hostesses at the March meetings of the Hustlers' Class of Redeemer's United Church of Christ Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the church social hall.

It was incorrectly stated in Friday's Times that Dr. Leah A. Maitland, Maple Ave., will not have office hours on Saturdays. Dr. Maitland said that her office was closed today but will continue with regular hours each Saturday hereafter.

The Ocker-Snyder American Legion Post voted to sponsor an Easter egg hunt for children of the community at a Thursday evening at the post home. The hunt will take place Easter Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m.

Twenty exhibits have been signed for the Better Homes and Gardens Show to be held April 24-26 in St. Aloysius Hall. There will also be special awards each night of the show.

A donation was voted to the Adams County Society for Crippled Children. It was voted to increase the insurance on the Legion property. The post will meet again on March 27.

SUSPECT POISON OR SLAYING IN AGENT'S DEATH

TOKYO (P)—The U.S. Army said today one of its intelligence agents whose body was found floating in Tokyo Bay may have been poisoned after handing his insurance policy to his wife and disappearing.

M. Sgt. Emmet E. Dugan, 39, of Crafton, Pa., left his wife Feb. 4 in a Tokyo hotel with the policy and personal papers.

"If I don't return, you'll need these," he said.

His body was found last Wednesday, five weeks later. The Army said there were indications he was dead before hitting the water more than two weeks ago.

Suspect Red Murder

Japanese newspaper speculation ranged from the possibility that Dugan was murdered while investigating Chinese Communists in Japan to a Japanese police report he had been undergoing psychiatric treatment.

As usual, the Army maintained a tight silence on Dugan's work as an intelligence agent. But a spokesman termed Dugan "a fine soldier" and denied he had any psychiatric troubles. The infantry veteran had finished Chinese language training last year.

The Army said Dugan and his wife, Maud, came to Tokyo Feb. 4 by train from Camp Zama near Yokohama.

Planned To Borrow Money

That night he left his wife at a hotel, handed over his insurance policy and papers and told her to return to their home in Yokohama. His wife said they planned to borrow money on the policy.

Then, the Army said, Dugan went to an Army camp north of Tokyo, drew $40 in advance pay and sold his typewriter to a Japanese dealer for $22. He stopped at the camp's noncommissioned officers' club, lost $39 playing slot machines and vanished. There was no wallet on the body.

Dugan was first listed as AWOL but on March 1 this was changed to missing because the Army was convinced he was absent through no fault of his own.

Mrs. Dugan, a former Red Cross worker he met in Korea, has returned to Crafton.

LOS ANGELES (P)—Actress Gail Russell, 33, convicted of driving while drunk last July 4, has paid a $420 fine.

The court yesterday imposed the fine, suspended a 30-day jail sentence and placed the actress on a three-year probation.

HAPPINESS

The world's greatest search is for happiness, regardless of the fact that your happiness may have been missed and left upon your own front door steps. It's that elusive. Simple as happiness is to gain, money cannot buy it nor can fame, nor temporary applause. Happiness is something that has to be born in the heart, and then it must be eternally guarded and warmed there, in readiness to give to such as may need, for happiness lives only as it is distributed far and wide.

Taking happiness alone, there is nothing that is so potent in protecting the health and stimulating all of the organs of the body as is happiness. Note how happy a healthy child is. Note, also, how much more efficient is the worker who is happy. Think of the power of love, stimulated by a little happiness.

Doctors tell me that happy patients recover much quicker than those who are not happy. Nurses love to have such people in their charge. The average person does not realize the power that he has ever at hand, if he is continually happy, and is forever inspiring happiness in others.

Unhappy people require sympathy, understanding, and an abiding faith. There is a line from the writings of William James that has helped me. I turn it over to you. He said: "Be not afraid of life. Believe that life is worth living, and your belief will help create the fact." If we were only more heroic, more patient, and more humane! What a world we might build! What a great human being we might turn out to be!

Just Folks

A PRAYER

This is my prayer for the day:
Strength for the tasks that I find,
Wisdom to light up my way;
Then, though I falter behind,
Let me not envy nor hate
Him who is braver than I.
Let me not curse or berate
Any who may pass me by.

Lord, let me do what I can,
Let me not shirk any task;
Teach me to live as a man;
More I'm unwilling to ask.
Humble my lot, let me be Proud of the fact that I live,
Glad for the sky and the sea,
Glad of the mite I can give.

This is my prayer for the day:
Not for more favors I bow,
But wisdom to make on my way
The most of what's given me now.

Poor, then let poverty be Something to strengthen my soul.
Take not one burden from me;
Let me fight my own way to my goal.

Call AEC To Explain Nuclear Test Shot

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atomic Energy Commission officials were called to Capitol Hill today to explain the AEC's acknowledged error in reporting on detection of an underground nuclear test shot that caused a Nevada mountain to "jump."

The unusual Saturday hearing was arranged by the Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy. Rep. Durham (D-NC), committee chairman, said his group wants to know the background of an AEC announcement early this month that the Nevada test last September could be detected only 250 miles when seismological stations up to 2,320 miles away reported detecting it.

The AEC announced the announcement a few days later and Acting AEC Chairman Willard F. Libby said the error "was entirely inadvertent." Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) had questioned whether the error was entirely accidental.

County History
Tragedy On The Frontier

By B. F. M. MacPherson

Historically speaking the French and Indian Wars began in 1754 although it was not until after the defeat of General Edward Braddock on July 9, 1755, that a state of war was actually acknowledged. The cowardly action of Colonel Dunbar, who commanded Braddock's rear-guard, in burning his supplies and retreating to Philadelphia, brought matters to a climax.

The news of Braddock's defeat spread quickly throughout the settlements of Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia. Fear traveled on the wings of the wind, bringing terror to those who had believed that Braddock's proud army was invincible, but now learned, to their dismay, that it had been over-whelmingly defeated.

Unfortunately the Indian tribes who had not, as yet, gone over to the French, also heard the news. The Shawnees and Delawares hesitated no longer but prepared to strike the frontier settlements. Soon the mountains of Pennsylvania were filled with war parties, coming from the valleys of the Ohio and Allegheny. They rushed down the Braddock Road into Maryland, and killed and scalped settlers almost up to the gates of Fort Cumberland.

"Bitter Fruits"
A little later they entered the Pennsylvania settlements by way of the various Indian paths, traders' routes, and the road Colonel James Brad had cut to the crest of the Allegheny Mountain. The bitter fruits of the fraudulent Walking Purchase of 1737 and the Albany Purchase of 1754 were about to be gathered.

At this time the Pennsylvania frontier was almost defenseless. Governor Morris was unable to raise troops in the province, and wrote Governor Shirley, of New York, on August 19, 1755, that "uncommon pains have been taken by the Quakers to dissuade the people from taking up arms upon the present occasion." He went on to explain that a great majority of the Pennsylvania Assembly were Quakers, who refused to take any warlike action. Such was the state of affairs in the autumn of 1755, when the Delawares and Shawnees began their bloody invasion of the frontier settlements.

Terrible Massacre
On October 16, 1755, began the terrible massacre of the German settlers along Penn's Creek, the first Indian outrage in Pennsylvania after Braddock's defeat. The massacre extended from a point near New Berlin, Union County, to a point near Selinsgrove, and lasted two days.

The first account of this tragedy was given by John Harris Sr., writing from his trading-house at Harris Ferry (now Hagerstown) to Governor Morris, on October 20, 1755, as follows:—

"I was informed last night by a person that came down our river that there was a Dutch (German) woman who had made her escape to George Gabriel's (near Selinsgrove), and informs that last Friday Evening on her way home from this Settlement to Mahanoy (Penn's Creek) where her family lived, she called at a Neighbor's House and saw two persons laying by the door of said house murdered and scalped, that there were some Dutch (German) families that lived near left their places immediately, not thinking it safe to stay any longer. It's the opinion of the people up the river that the families on Penn's Creek, being but scattered, that few in number are killed or carried off, except the said woman, the certainty of which will soon be known, as there are some men gone out to bury the dead."

Indians Strike Swiftly
After the initial tragedy matters went from bad to worse. The Indians struck swiftly and when least expected. They chose their points of attack with care and usually managed to retreat, with plunder and captives, before the arrival of reinforcements. The provincial government, roused to action at long last, built and garrisoned a chain of frontier forts. These served well as places of retreat for the settlers but did little to check the forays of the Indians and their French allies.

The first recorded raid into what is now Adams County took place on July 26, 1757. At that time a party of Indians was in the immediate vicinity of the Alexander McKesson plantation in Hamilton Township. According to "Loudon's Narrative," and his account is very brief, "... one McKesson was wounded, and his son taken from South Mountain."

Capture Young McKesson
Young Alexander McKesson (II) was captured when he lingered in the harvest field after the other men had gone to dinner. A party of Indians came along and took him captive. His journey with his captors ended in Ohio, where he remained for fifteen years. Shortly afterwards he made his escape and returned to his home. Later he married a sister of Walter Smith and the family lived near Fairfield for many years. Alexander McKesson retained many of his Indian habits, such as a preference for walking, and making his journeys at night.

On August 17, 1757, the Indians set fire to William Waugh's barn in Carroll's Tract. No details of this event are given, just the brief statement of fact.

The Indians struck next at the settlers in Pleasant Valley (now known as Buchanan Valley). On April 5, 1758, a band of Indians and Frenchmen from the Ohio attacked the home of Thomas Jemison, located near the confluence of Sharp's Run and Conewago Creek. Among those captured on that occasion was Mary, the daughter of Thomas Jemison. Mary spent the remainder of her long and troubled life with the Indians, and many years later became famous as the "White Woman of the Genesee."

Capture Bard Family
On the morning of April 13, 1758, the family of Richard Bard was captured by a band of nineteen Delaware Indians from the Ohio. The Bard family lived at what is now Virginia Mills, but at that time known as "Bard's Mill." On their way to the Bard home, the Indians captured Samuel Hunter and Daniel McManly, who were working in a field near the house; also a boy named William White, who was on his way to the Bard mill.

In the Bard home, at the time of the attack, were Richard Bard; his wife Katherine; their infant son, John; Frederick Ferriek, his servant, about fourteen years old; Hannah McBride, about eleven years old; and Captain Thomas Potter, a brother of General James Potter. One of the Indians attacked Captain Potter with a knife, but he succeeded in wrestling it from the savage. Richard Bard seized a pistol and snapped it at one of the Indians, but it failed to fire. As there was no ammunition in the house resistance was useless. The occupants surrendered after the Indians promised that no harm would come to them.

Indians Burn Mill
After the Indians had secured the prisoners they plundered the house and burned the mill. At a point about seventy rods from the house, contrary to their promise, they killed Captain Potter. Several miles further on one of them sank the spear of his tomahawk into the breast of the child (John Bard) and scalped it. When they reached the top of the Tuscarora Mountain the party sat down to rest. Suddenly one of the savages, without any warning whatsoever, buried his tomahawk in the head of Samuel Hunter, and then proceeded to scalp him.

Richard Bard, who had good reason to believe that he would be the next victim, determined to escape. A little later, while the party was in camp, he was sent to a spring for water. Needless to say he kept right on going and affording days he managed to reach Fort Littleton, in what is now Fulton County, Pennsylvania.

The notes on the Bard family will be continued next week.

THE BOLTIN' BISHOPS
By Sgt. Louis Cassullo
Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department

An automobile sputtered, slowed down, and pulled off the free-way just outside Los Angeles. The driver got out and stood by his car as dozens of other motorists sped by, none of them offering help.

The driver was about to start his long trek to the nearest telephone when he noticed a rebuilt pickup pull off the road behind him. At first glance, the truck looked like another of the hundreds of hot rods we see on our California highways these days. But the resemblance stopped there.

Out hopped two teen-age boys, oil in their hair, axle grease under their finger nails. "Can we help?" "I'm out of gas," said the driver.

Went To Work
Without speaking, the boys turned and went to work. One flipped off the gas cap of the stalled car. The other went to the back of the truck, fished around among tools, tow ropes, jacks and came up with a gallon can of gas. He poured the gasoline into the stalled car.

"Try her now," he said, and the driver, somewhat startled, obeyed. The car started. The driver got out and reached for his wallet.

"How much do I owe you?" "Nothing," said the boys and one of them pulled out a card. "You have just been aided," the card said, "by the Boltin' Bishops." Who are the Boltin' Bishops? What are they doing out on the highways and byways aiding stalled motorists? The idea for starting such a club came to a young man by the name of Roy McKewon. McKewon is the Los Angeles director of a group who call themselves Youth for Christ.

Lots Of Energy
Four years ago McKewon attended a board meeting of YFC. At that meeting, members were discussing the tremendous amount of teen-age interest and energy that was centered around hot rod cars. From a mild beginning in the early '30s as a Southern California

COURT RULES
GIRL CONTINUE
CONVENT LIFE

HILLSBORO, Ore. (AP)—Alice Miller, 19, Thursday was given permission by a court to continue her life in a Roman Catholic convent where she intends to become a nun.

State Circuit Court Judge Glen Heiber turned down a plea from her father that she be returned to his home and control.

The father, Ivan R. Miller of Milwaukie, Ore., and his wife "live by the golden rule but have no religion," they said.

At a recent hearing on the case, the Millers testified they had enrolled their daughter for 10 years in Catholic schools.

Judge Heiber said in his ruling that testimony disclosed Miller had ordered the girl to choose between her religion and her home. This ultimatum, the judge said, emancipated Miss Miller from parental control.

Had Entered Convent
The judge said the girl had entered the convent of the Sisters of St. Mary of Oregon at nearby Beaverton of her own free will.

"The court," he said, "knows of no law under the circumstances of this case, and the inconsistency practiced by these parents, which permits parents to require a child growing into mature years to give up its faith as a prerequisite to remaining in the household and as a result causing the child to leave and forage for itself."

Miss Miller became a member of the Catholic Church last year while attending Holy Name College at Spokane, Wash. She became a candidate for the Catholic order here last January. She also is attending classes at Maryhurst College, a Catholic institution at Oregon City, and intends to become a teacher in a Catholic school.

STATE IS USING RADAR ON SPEED

HARRISBURG (AP)—O. D. Shipley, director of the State Highway Safety Bureau, said Friday realistic speed limit zones are being determined in Pennsylvania by the use of radar.

Radar, he said, is the best modern method of determining how fast a flow of traffic is moving. It cannot, however, be used as evidence in prosecuting speeding motorists.

Shipley failed in an attempt to persuade the 1957 Legislature to legalize the use of radar evidence in speeding enforcement.

Shipley also renewed his long-standing position that Pennsylvania's system of issuing operators' licenses is inadequate although considered one of the better programs in the nation.

backyard hobby, this desire to hop up, improve, modify old cars had mushroomed into a national sport. An estimated $225,000,000 was being poured each year into engine and body modifications dreamed up by back-alley engineers. For lack of leadership, the youngsters formed their own clubs, usually picking some drive-in restaurant near home as a meeting place.

The results were literal free-for-alls, dangerous stunts with cars, and frequent police raids to break up the gangs.

"From the looks of things," said Bob Cook, president of Youth for Christ, "we may need to enter a strange new ministry. Remember the passage 'Go ye into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in.' That Scripture might have been written especially for us."

Couldn't "Compel" Them
But everyone knew there was little use trying to "compel" youngsters to join a church-oriented group. It was at this point that Roy McKewon came up with the idea, "Why don't we start a hot rod club of our own?"

There was good reason to believe that such a club might work. One important step had already been made in this direction through the excellent work of The National Hot Rod Association. This was a group of hot rod clubs operating under the motto "Safety First; Speed Second."

The basic idea of the NHRA was to have responsible adult sponsorship for hot rod groups, on the theory that the clubs would reflect the principles and spirit of the sponsor.

"Why don't we join the NHRA," suggested McKewon, "with Youth for Christ as a sponsor?"

Club Is Formed
The idea sounded good. When McKewon returned to his home in Los Angeles, the formation of the first club was announced with Maurice Brockington as a local leader. Its name: The Boltin' Bishops.

The club started with a charter membership of 12 enthusiasts. Its constitution was explicit and binding. Dues were to be within the range of every boy. Activities were to center around putting each member's car into such good shape that it could pass the rigid NHRA Club Safety Check.

During the first six months of their existence, the Boltin' Bishops more than tripled in size. With this success to spur them, the

TV Film In Russia

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Bob Hope is off to the Soviet Union to film two television shows during a six-day stay.

Hope left by plane Thursday en route to Moscow. Last Feb. 2 he went to London, expecting to continue on to the Soviet Union, but a snafu developed in his Soviet visa. He returned to this country and acquired the necessary travel clearance.

Hope said he was excited over his trip to the Soviet Union, adding: "They have a sense of humor—like us."

LEOPOLD ILL
ON AUTO TRIP

CHICAGO (AP)—Still shaky after a fast automobile ride from Stateville Prison, ex-convict Nathan Leopold Friday spent his second day of freedom in Chicago, scene of the crime for which he served 33½ years.

Leopold, probably the world's most publicized convict, remained in the Gold Coast apartment of Abel M. Brown, real estate man and his onetime classmate at the University of Chicago.

Leopold, a diabetic, became sick at least six times during a fast 40-mile ride to Chicago after his release from Stateville Prison near Joliet. The automobile halted frequently and the 53-year-old Leopold staggered to the roadside, ashen and nauseated.

Prepares For Flight
Unless his condition improves, Leopold is expected to remain in the Brown apartment until arrangements are completed for his departure for Puerto Rico, where he is to serve his parole working as a $10-a-month lab technician in a small mission hospital in the mountains near the town of Adjuntas.

It was not known definitely when Leopold would leave Chicago but Hill indicated plans were being made to arrange a direct flight to Puerto Rico.

Leopold and his companion Richard Loeb were sentenced to life and 99 years for the 1924 thrill slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Franks. Loeb was slain in 1936 during a prison fight.

YFC today sponsors Boltin' Bishops clubs from Portland, Oregon, to San Diego, from Pasadena to Chicago.

The heart of the club centered around its weekly meetings. Every evening, from 6:30 to 8:00 p.m., the boys met in the well-equipped garage of two cooperative mechanics from nearby Pasadena, Paul Tahmianian and Joe Sunukjian.

Inspirational Talk
Although the boys managed to get appropriately greasy, put in some good hard work mixed with some equally vigorous horseplay, they never lost sight of the need to concentrate on the principles of the sponsoring Youth for Christ movement. At each meeting a guest or member gave an inspirational message before the group.

I attended one of these meetings recently. The speaker for the evening was 18 years old, a track star, and a born clown. We'd been laughing at him all evening. The newcomers were somewhat surprised when he started his talk with a passage of Scripture: "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them," he said. "Before anybody gets the wrong idea about the Boltin' Bishops, we want to make it clear that we're here to put Christ first, cars second."

"Midnight Supplies"
"You take that passage from the Scripture. What do you think of hot rodders who go around getting midnight auto supplies? Maybe it's only a hub cap or two. But would you like someone to lift your hub cap?"

"What about outlaw clubs that go around street-racing, killing people, getting jailed? How do they compare with the guys from that club in Alhambra who went out in the last heavy fog and guided lost motorists off the freeway? Or the Valley King Pin Boys who stationed cars at a flooded intersection and pulled stalled cars out for free?"

"Some guys want to know what we're trying to prove by all this. It's simple. We're trying to prove that any sport can be Christian if you apply his teachings to it. We want members who can make their lives a testimony to that."

Let's Look At The Record
By Jim Dan Hill, Ph.D.

CHANGING PLANS
Chameleon Policies Hurt National Guard; Wasted Training Means Wasted Dollars

THE PENTAGON, America's Defense Department, wastes millions through lack of continuity and consistency.

Nowhere is this more apparent and disastrous than in the programming for young men to absolve their obligations to their country under the Selective Service Law.

RESPONSIBILITY is hard to place. Rumors and counter-rumors, up and down the beehive corridors of the Pentagon, place the buck first in one office and then another.

Worse yet, there is no agreement as to what was being attempted when a plan is tampered with. But all appear to agree it is time to write a new plan anyway.

ANY PLAN in operation for three years is likely to be considered obsolete. Three years is the length of time that rotation of assignments normally creates an almost complete turnover.

It is natural for each new arrival, be he a naive and wide-eyed buck major or an ambitious and transitory assistant secretary for personnel, like Carter H. Burgess was, to feel he must do something big and important during his brief sojourn at high level.

Accordingly, it is quite easy in the Pentagon to find listeners to a new plan. Often as not, this urge for a "new plan" is what leads to the disastrous tampering with an old one before it is fully tested.

IN FIELDS that touch as many lives and affect as many plans of young people as do the various forms of service obligations, the impact of these chameleon like changes is disheartening to the people, and wasteful of millions already spent on training. Young men are lost to this or that program from sheer uncertainty and disgust. The money already spent on them is a waste.

LET'S LOOK briefly at the current National Guard trends as unfolded in recent congressional committee hearings.

In 1953 the Defense Department pledged the nation a 2,000,000-man Ready Reserve with a like number, or more, in a "Standby Reserve."

To achieve this 2,000,000-man goal there were sweeping revisions of existing plans with appropriate legislative changes in 1955. More options were written in than one finds in a 20-year life insurance endowment policy.

Since the highly organized and well equipped National Guard units represented the most ready portion of the Army Ready Reserve, both the President and the Secretary of the Army pledged their fullest official powers to insure the Army National Guard would never drop below a strength of 400,000.

Indeed, because other reserve elements were falling far short of their objectives, the National Guard was encouraged to exceed the above figure. Thus in 1956 the Guard went to 430,000 officers and men. Each of these had the same obligation to immediate service that applies to a Regular.

Moreover, within the limits of their specific combat assignment in the unit team, these Guardsmen are often more proficient than Regulars of like rank and rating, whose long staff and desk assignments have kept them out of contact with combat tools, weapons and techniques of their basic arms.

Seventy-five per cent of the 5,454 Army National Guard units inspected by Regular Army teams were given ratings of "very satisfactory" or better. A third of the gross were rated "excellent" and an eighth thereof were given the top rating of "superior." Practically all the lower 25 per cent were rated "satisfactory."

THE GUARD achieved this strength and excellent status at a cost to the taxpayers of one-sixth and expense of a like number of ranks and ratings on full-time active duty.

The National Guard further made the most of the compromise of the

Braves Mound Power Too Much For Phils; Rush Shows Well; Yankees Regulars Spank Reds

By BEN OLAN
The Associated Press
Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney has added some new and solid ingredients to a pitching recipe that helped carry the Braves to their first world championship last season.

The recipe: Take the strong starting pitchers, Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette, Bob Buhl and Gene Conley... sprinkle with a touch of fine relievers, Don McMahon and Ernie Johnson... add some exceptional youngsters, Juan Pizarro, Carleton Willey, Bob Trowbridge and Joey Jay... and sweeten the mixture with some components obtained from Chicago, Bob Rush and Don Kaiser.

Some National League managers and club officials hollered loud and long when the Braves acquired Rush and Kaiser from the Cubs in a five-player deal last Dec. 5. In Rush, they claimed, Milwaukee picked up a durable veteran right-hander who would make the Braves much tougher to beat in 1958.

Rush Shows Well
And they probably knew what they were yelling about.

For, the 32-year-old winner of 110 big league ball games is showing up well in the early exhibition games.

Yesterday, Rush gave up only one hit in three scoreless innings as the Braves trounced the Philadelphia Phillies 8-1. Spahn also worked three scoreless frames while Pizarro yielded the only Phils' tally on a home run by Harry Anderson.

The St. Louis Cards, another NL contender, also won. They turned back the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-5. Joe Cunningham was the winners' big gun with four runs batted in on a 3-for-4 performance.

The New York Yankees, the Braves' victims in the last World Series, got help from regulars Bill Skowron, Hank Bauer and Gil McDougald to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs 5-1. It was only the Bombers' second victory in seven games—both against the Redlegs. Don Larsen allowed only two singles in a five-inning stint.

In other games, the Chicago White Sox beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-1 under the archlights; the San Francisco Giants trimmed Cleveland 7-2; Detroit beat Boston 11-8; Baltimore nipped the Cubs 7-6 and Kansas City defeated Washington 5-1.

An error by Don Zimmer, who tossed away a doubleplay ball, enabled the White Sox to pick up two second inning runs for their margin of victory.

Rookie catcher Roger McCardell cracked two homers, one a grand slam, for the Giants. The winners got nifty pitching from Ramon Montant, Stu Miller and Dom Zanni.

McDevitt Advances In PCIAA Playoffs

CARLISLE, Pa. (P)—Harrisburg Bishop McDevitt earned a shot at the PCIAA Class A Eastern Region championship last night with a 60-50 victory over Scranton Prep in a semifinal game.

Allentown Central Catholic, 73-71 victor over Norristown Bishop Kenrick, will be Bishop McDevitt's opponent for the eastern title next Tuesday.

Bishop McDevitt pulled from behind a 25-31 halftime deficit, overtaking Prep in the third quarter and going in front to stay. Harry Nelson was high scorer with 22 points for the winners. For Scranton Tom McCaffrey was high with 15.

Late Rally Keep Rochester In Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Rochester Americans still had an outside chance today of qualifying for the American Hockey League's Calder Cup playoffs.

The Amers kept their chance last night by defeating the Providence Reds 4-2 in the only game scheduled. The winners rallied for three goals in the final 10 minutes.

Spider Mazur got the winning marker at 14:37 and the clincher at 18:51.

The triumph moved the fifth-place Americans to within four points of the Springfield Indians, who hold down the No. 4 position. Each team has only four games left to play.

TONY ANTHONY BEATS DURELLE ON TKO IN 7TH

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (P)—What a difference one fight makes! Six months ago Tony Anthony was knocked out by Archie Moore in a bid for the old garage's light heavyweight crown. Today the lean, young New Yorker was seeking a crack at heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

"We want Patterson," shouted Manager Ernie Braca after his 23-year-old punching protegee stopped awkward, wild-swinging Yvon Durelle of Canada in 31 seconds of the seventh round of a television thriller at Madison Square Garden last night.

Floored in the first round by a right and left to the head, Anthony came raging back to stagger the 28-year-old fighting fisherman repeatedly, floor him in the sixth and bomb him in the seventh. Referee Ruby Goldstein intervened while the game Canadian still was standing.

Into Heavy Class
"Tony is stepping into the heavyweight class now," said Braca as Anthony nodded assent. "We only kept him down for this one fight. Durelle has been hollering that he won the first fight when they called it a draw. We wanted to prove something to him and Tony sure did."

"I think we have a good chance of getting Patterson," Braca added. "I spoke to Gus D'Amato (Patterson's manager) before he and Floyd sailed for England and I think we can work out something."

How about the International Boxing Club angle? Didn't D'Amato say he wouldn't have Patterson fight for the IBC or anyone co-operating with the IBC?

"I'd like to get Cus and Jim Norris (IBC president) together," replied the ever-optimistic Braca. "But if Cus doesn't want Jim to promote it, we're agreeable to having Teddy Brenner, Emil Lence (both New Yorkers) or some other promoter put it on."

Durelle, who outweighed Anthony 176 to 173 1/2, also plans to move into the heavyweight class. Ranked second in the light heavyweight division (Anthony is the No. 3 contender), the British Empire 175-pound king saw his hopes of getting a title shot at Moore blasted to bits. He had gone unbeaten in 12 fights, including the draw with Anthony nine months ago, and only needed a victory last night to clinch the deal.

FITZKEE TOP POINT-MAN FOR BULLET FROSH

Bill Fitzkee, Manchester, Pa., scored a total of 351 points to capture scoring honors on the Gettysburg College Freshmen basketball team during the 1957-58 campaign. The Baby Bullets won 10 and lost the same number.

Runnerup in the scoring department was Phil Graham, Carlisle, with 255 points while Barry Kain, Hollidaysburg, contributed 204 markers.

Others who scored better than 100 points included: Bob MacDougal, Silver Spring, Md.; Bill Hemming, Norristown, and Ken Fruchter, Forest Hills, N. Y.

The Baby Bullets enjoyed signal success at home, winning six of seven games but could manage only four victories in 13 road engagements.

Top offensive performance was 105 points scored against Hershey Junior College but an undefeated Villanova Freshman quintet did one better by scoring 106 points against Gettysburg. Best individual effort was a 31-point performance by Fitzkee against St. Francis Prep.

DICK STUART IS RECEIVING NEW CHANCE AT FIRST

By JACK HAND

FORT MYERS, Fla. (P)—A year ago the earth trembled and the orange trees shivered when the mighty Dick Stuart swung a bat. The brash Pittsburgh Pirate rookie wrote his name in bold letters across the spring training news.

By September, the man who had hit 68 home runs for Lincoln, Neb. in 1956 was back in Lincoln again. Disenchanted managers handed him down step by step from Pittsburgh to Hollywood to Atlanta until he was back where he started.

There is a brand new spring and a brand new Dick Stuart, slightly subdued. No longer is he the bumbling outfielder who made Babe Herman look like Joe Di. Maggio. The young man has been made over into a first baseman, one of four on the Pirate roster.

Looks Like Hitter

"He looks like a hitter now, instead of a wild swinger," said Danny Murtaugh who was a coach under Manager Bobby Bragan a year ago. Now Murtaugh is the manager. "His situation depends on Ted Kluszewski's condition. There is a decided improvement in his outlook."

Murtaugh didn't elaborate on what he meant by the "improvement in outlook" but a talk with the young man gave you a slant. "I found out you can't talk your way onto a ball club," said Stuart.

"The main difference in me is that I'm keeping this shut." He pointed to his mouth.

Although 1957 was a year Stuart would like to forget, he wound up with 45 homers in the minors, plus 15 in winter ball.

BRAVES, PHILS COOKING DEAL

BRADENTON, Fla. (P)—John Quinn and Roy Hamey, general managers respectively of the Milwaukee Braves and Philadelphia Phillies, confirmed yesterday they have been talking trade.

"But it was nothing serious," Hamey said. "I'd say that right now there's nothing hot on the fire. But it's no secret that we're weak in the infield."

Hamey declined to answer when asked if the name of Milwaukee's utility infielder Felix Mantilla came up, and Philadelphia Manager Mayo Smith said, "we're not desperate at first," when asked what he thought of Joe Adcock, the Braves' first sacker.

It's no secret either that Milwaukee is not satisfied with its center field situation and has for several years at least thought of the Phillies' Richie Ashburn.

The only one commenting was Ashburn and he said, "I'd like to stay with Philadelphia."

KLU IS QUESTION
FORT MYERS, Fla. (P)—A major question in the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball camp here is when will first baseman Ted Kluszewski be ready to play.

"I have no idea," Kluszewski says.

Kluszewski added, however, that he seemed to be coming along pretty well. He said he now is taking a full swing in the batting cage. He was troubled with a sore back while with the Cincinnati Redlegs last season.

from there on K-State held command with Roy Dewitz scoring seven of the Wildcats' nine points in the overtime.

All-America Guy Rodgers of Temple didn't have one of his best nights but the Owls again demonstrated they are not a one-man operation as they picked up their 24th straight victory.

Dartmouth caught Manhattan on a cold shooting night. The Jaspers made only 32.9 per cent of their shots as Dartmouth kept the nets hot. Charlie Kaufman led the Ivy League champs with 22 points.

Kentucky, seeking an unprecedented fourth NCAA title, capitalized on the outside shooting of Johnny Cox to overcome Miami. Cox dropped in 23 points.

Although Tom Hawkins and John McCarthy combined for 60 points, Notre Dame had to survive a late Indiana flurry. McCarthy tallied 29 and Hawkins 31. Indiana's Archie Dees contributed 28 in a losing cause.

BUILDING AND FARM

Beef Breeder Makes Profits When He Saves All His Calves Says Adams County Farm Agent

By FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

The best breeder makes his profits from the calf crop. When all the calves dropped are saved profits are bigger, so a high calving percentage is one of the most important factors in the success of any beef herd. Since late winter and early spring is the season of the year when most of the beef calves are born, the herd owner is urged to try to get most out of his calf crop.

The following suggestions are offered to help herd owners get more returns from their beef herd:

1. Try to be on hand at calving time. Often a calf or two can be saved because the breeder is on hand at calving time. This is especially true with first calf heifer.
2. Provide clean calving quarters. If cows calve inside, make sure the pen or shed is dry and has plenty of fresh bedding. Sanitation and careful management will eliminate much of the bad luck encountered by many breeders.

3. See that the calf eats within an hour or so after calving. Applying tincture of iodine to the navel of newborn calves will help reduce the source of some infection.

Dehorn Young Calves
4. Dehorn and castrate calves when they are young and easy to handle. Often these two minor jobs are put off until they become major tasks. Young animals are easier to handle and there is less shock and set-back. There are several different methods of dehorning and castrating. Use the one you find most successful but make sure the job is done.

Moles feed almost entirely on earthworms, grubs and insects found in the soil. They search for food by extending their runways just under the surface of the soil. These tunnels are usually indicated by ridges of raised soil or turf. An individual mole may make extensive runways over as much as a quarter of an acre in search for food. They have a tremendous appetite and in a day's time will often eat their weight in insects and earthworms.

Under most conditions moles should be considered beneficial since they destroy many injurious insects. Only when they invade lawns and cultivated ground and cause injury are control measures suggested.

Mice And Rats

Mice and rats often enter the runways, and moles are blamed for much of the damage these rodents do to seeds, tubers, and roots of cultivated plants.

Moles are difficult to control. Trapping is slow but is the most dependable method. Specially designed traps are used for the purpose. In setting the traps, press down the raised soil five or six inches along the runway. Place the trap over the runway so the trigger rests on the pressed down area. The next time the mole comes along it raises the soil and the trap is sprung.

Use of poison baits is seldom successful. Grassing is only partially effective due to the extensiveness of the runways.

Mole runways in lawns and gardens are usually a good indication of a white grub infestation in that area. Treating the area with chemicals to eliminate the grubs will make the lawns and gardens less attractive to moles.

New Antibiotic

A relatively new antibiotic compound, hygromycin, is being recommended for worm control in swine. Research workers in Wisconsin have found hygromycin to be safe and effective against roundworms, whipworms, and nodular worms of swine of all ages. Many feed manufacturers are incorporating this compound in pig starters and protein supplements for continuous feeding. It is generally recommended that it be fed continuously to pigs up to 75 pounds. Feeding this material to brood sows during the gestation period will remove these parasites before she is put into the farrowing house. This should prevent worm infestation in the baby pigs.

Research work to date with the new treatment looks good and the Question: Can you tell me what to do about squeaky floors? We have just recently purchased a home that was about 6 months old when we bought it. It has wide subflooring and hardwood over that in the bedrooms, and plywood over subflooring in the kitchen and living room. There is no basement, just crawl space under the house.

Answer: If there is room in the crawl space to get at the floors from the bottom, drive wedges between the beams and drug is cheap enough to add little more than ten cents to a hundred pounds of supplement or pig starter. Use of any of the newer worm medicines and clean-ground sanitation should eliminate one of our most expensive swine problems.

When modern threaded nails are used (usually when the floor is to be covered,) drive them straight into the wood.

Question: The exterior of our one-story ranch house, 5 years old, is stucco, with portions of the lower half clapboard. The interior has plastered walls. The heating unit is oil with a blower system. Our problem is damp walls in clothes closets, in cupboards and behind large pieces of furniture placed next to outside walls. How can we correct this condition?

Answer: First, see if your heating unit has a humidifier attached to it. If so, have it disconnected. When using any appliances which let off steam or humidity, open a window while they are being operated. If none of this works, you will have to install small ventilating louvers (about the size of a half dollar) in 3 or 4 of the affected areas. All this advice is on the assumption that the dampness is not coming from the outside, such as during rainy periods, in which case you will have to find the source of the entry of water.

Question: I left a glass of water on a table finished with shellac. A white ring has been left. How can I get it off?

Answer: Dampen a cloth with denatured alcohol and rub the ringed area lightly. The trick is not to rub too hard or you'll take off part of the shellac. In that event, a refinishing of the table top will be necessary.

TOO QUICK, TOO SLOW

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Earl Quick, 35, was too quick. He was fined $20 in Traffic Court here on a speeding charge. Quick also was fined $15 for being too slow — in transferring license plates to a new car within the 10-day limit.

Elizabeth was the first capital of New Jersey in 1665.

Do's and Don't's

PAINTING A CEILING

DO... paint a ceiling by working across the width of the room rather than the length of it.

DO... whether using a scaffold consisting of a plank across the steps of 2 ladders — or any other standing support — always keep the paint container in back of you.

DO... use drop cloths for covering the floors and furniture that cannot easily be removed from the room.

DO... know that excessive dripping is usually caused (whether using a brush or a roller) by pressing too hard when stroking or using paint that has been thinned too much.

DON'T... begin painting a ceiling unless you intend to finish it in one session, because you'll be risking a lap mark by doing so, even with modern paints.

DON'T... forget that many ceilings can be covered adequately with a single coat if all dirt and dust are first washed off.

DON'T... if you plan on using a roller, overlook the possible use of an extension handle that permits you to stand on the floor while working.

DON'T... paint the walls until the ceiling is completely finished, because it is much more difficult to paint a ceiling after the walls have been done.

George Washington said in his Farewell Address on Sept. 17, 1796, that "the nation which indulges towards another an habitual hatred or an habitual fondness is some degree a slave."

Corn Champion

William O. Wolf of New Oxford was recently proclaimed county corn growing champ at a banquet at Lancaster in honor of Pennsylvania corn growing champs. His yield of 120.89 bushels per acre was the top yield in Adams County in the 1957 National Selected Five-Acre DeKalb corn growing contest. Unable to attend the banquet were Joseph F. Bushey of Gettysburg who produced a yield of 109.33 bushels per acre for second place and third place winner R. W. Wikert of Fairfield, who produced a yield of 69.26 bushels per acre.

STEALS FISH FRY FUNDS

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A fish fry sponsored by the married ladies sodality of St. Raymond's Catholic Church raised $400 last night, but an armed man made off with the receipts while the party still was in progress.

The gunman also took a purse containing $3 from Mrs. Mary Slay, who was acting as cashier.

NEW COURSES

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A branch YMCA announced enrollment was starting for two new night courses for adult women — "Ladies' Judo" and "Fundamentals of Babysitting."

One unidentified sage remarked: "Children are natural mimics — they act like their parents in spite of every attempt to teach them good manners."

SAYS SHERIFF DID NOTHING TO CONTROL RIOT

WASHINGTON (P)—Police Chief Steen W. Heimke of Sheboygan, Wis., said Friday the sheriff of his county in 1955 did nothing to control a riotous demonstration which broke out during the Kohler strike.

Heimke told the Senate Rackets Committee that Rudolph J. Ploetz, who was mayor at the time, was not much help either. He said he heard Ploetz ask the then sheriff, Theodore J. Mosch, "How much are you obligated to the union for?"

Heimke acknowledged under questioning that he himself made no arrests as a result of the disorders which marked the arrival in Sheboygan on July 5, 1955, of a boat carrying ceramic clay consigned to the struck Kohler Co. plant.

The committee is investigating violence which flared repeatedly during the United Auto Workers Union's long strike against the Kohler firm, maker of bathroom fixtures. The strike has been going since April 5, 1954, but the plant is operating.

The committee counsel, Robert F. Kennedy, told Heimke "It makes no sense" for him to blame the sheriff or others when Heimke himself made no arrests.

Heimke said this was because he had insufficient manpower and because of "diversionary incidents" staged by members of an unruly crowd who blocked unloading of the cargo of clay. Officials of the UAW have insisted they were not responsible for the violence.

Sheriff Responsible

Heimke said the city police normally are responsible for maintaining law and order in the city, but that in such emergencies as the clay boat incident main responsibility lay with the sheriff.

He said the situation was "what I considered to be a mob out of control." Heimke said the sheriff troled a riotous demonstration which broke out during the Kohler strike.
